Panel approves tax cuts, rebate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation is moving forward in Congress to enact President Carter's economic stimulus package, including $50 rebates for most Americans and permanent tax cuts for 44.6 million households.

The legislation, approved Thursday night 26 to 8 by the House Ways and Means Committee, could be ready for House action later this month or early next month.

The $50 rebate checks would start going into the mail in May or June to all American families with income under $25,000 if the bill passes in its present form.

The permanent tax cut would be reflected in reduced withholding from paychecks received after May 1. This would be worth an average of $90 annually to some 44.6 million taxpayers and their families earning $20,000 or less a year.

The committee voted to replace the current system of minimum and maximum standard deductions for taxpayers who do not itemize with a new flat deduction of $2,400 for single persons and $3,000 for couples. Carter had suggested a $2,200 deduction for singles, but the committee rejected this because it would have raised taxes for 2.1 million single taxpayers.

The action would raise the so-called "marriage penalty," now at $1,300 to $1,800. Carter has acknowledged that two single persons living together have a tax advantage over married couples. The new system would allow the singles to get two deductions totaling $4,800, while the couple would be limited to $3,000.

Most of the benefits from the new standard deduction would go to taxpayers making less than $17,500 a year. It would mean a tax cut of $154 a year for a single person making $10,000, $175 for a couple earning $12,500, and $171 for a family of four with $10,000 of income.

The tax reductions first enacted in 1975 would be continued through 1978, including the present $35-per-person tax credit, a special bonus of up to $400 for working poor families, and corporate tax rate reductions aimed mainly at helping smaller businesses.

In addition, a new jobs tax credit for businesses would provide up to $40,000 annually for each company hiring new workers this year and in 1978. The government, in effect, would pay up to $1,680 of the wages for each new employee, with even greater incentives for hiring the handicapped.

The tax rebate would mean a $50 check for single persons, $100 for couples and $200 for a family of four. But people earning between $25,000 and $30,000 would get

CIA-Hussein link draws 'no comment'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today he would have no immediate statement about a report that the CIA secretly funneled millions of dollars over two decades to Jordan's King Hussein.

Asked by reporters whether he wanted to comment on the report, Carter said: "No. Jody will have a statement later about it."

The matter was expected to come up at White House Press Secretary Jody Powell's regular news briefing.

The State Department also declined comment on the story, published today by the Washington Post.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, in the midst of a trip through the Middle East, was to visit with Hussein today in Amman.

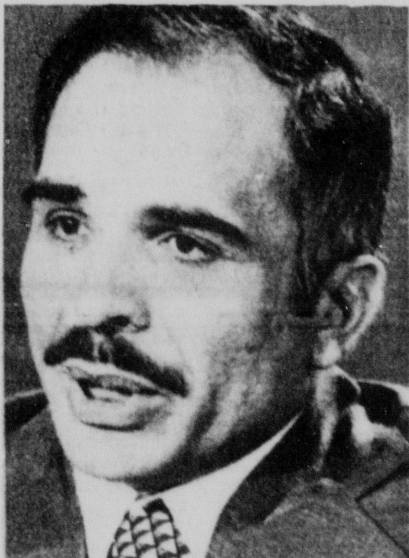

President Carter learned of the payoffs and ordered them halted a few days ago, the Post reported. Former President Gerald Ford was informed about the payments last year, but did nothing to stop them, the paper said.

The Jordanian embassy in Washington declined comment.

The Post said the CIA began supplying Hussein with funds in 1957, when the monarch was 21 and former President Dwight Eisenhower was in office. Initial payments ran to millions of dollars, but diminished to $750,000 last year, the Post said.

The paper said the CIA claimed that in exchange for the funds, U.S. intelligence agencies won permission to operate freely in strategically located Jordan over the years.

The money was forwarded to Hussein under the codeword project name, "No Beef," with the king normally receiving his payments in cash from the CIA station chief in Amman, according to the Post.

Jordan's King Hussein

"Hussein himself provided intelligence to the CIA and forwarded money from the payments to other government officials who provided intelligence or cooperated with the CIA," the newspaper said.

The Post said the CIA payments were made outside the conventional channel of military and economic assistance, although Hussein regarded them as another form of U.S. assistance.

The United States has been a regular arms supplier for Jordan, as well as extending millions of dollars in loans and grants over the years. Jordan received $200 million last year in U.S. loans and grants.

The Post, citing "well-placed sources," said Carter was "distressed" he had not been informed of the payments earlier by the CIA or any member of the outgoing Ford administration.

FBI not implicated, task force contends

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department task force found no evidence that the FBI was implicated in the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and concluded that the FBI investigation of the assassination was thorough and honest.

The task force today released a report of its findings after reviewing more than 200,000 FBI documents and interviewing about 40 witnesses.

Former Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi launched the probe to clear up questions about the FBI harassment of the civil rights leader and the investigation of his death.

The task force said the evidence virtually rules out the possibility of a conspiracy to kill King, who was shot on a motel balcony in Memphis on April 4, 1968.

The evidence indicates that James Earl Ray, who was arrested and pleaded guilty to the crime, acted alone, the task force said.

"The sum of all of the evidence of Ray's guilt points to him so exclusively that it most effectively makes the point that no one else was involved," the report said.

"Of course, someone could conceivably have provided him with logistics or even paid him to commit the crime. However, we have found no competent evidence upon which to base such a theory."

The task force said the FBI conscientiously checked out leads suggesting a conspiracy but "the results were negative."

The task force "has concluded that the investigation by the FBI to ascertain and capture the murderer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was thoroughly, honestly and successfully conducted," the report said. "We found no new evidence which calls for action by state or federal authorities."

The task force members also said they "found no evidence of any complicity" in the assassination by the FBI or the Memphis Police Department.

Tax package in terms of $

High pressure talk

Harold Bailey, right, a Wayne Service Co. employee, explains a pressure test to Mayor Allen Hawkins Friday morning at Freese Dairy, Main and Prospect, as the company tested three gasoline storage tanks for leaks. Besides the tests, efforts were underway Friday to flush gasoline fumes from the sewers around Mark Twain School.

Mark Twain problem

Officials will wait on contingency plan

Sedalia school officials have developed a contingency plan to relocate Mark Twain Elementary School students if it is judged Sunday night that the school will be unsafe for classes Monday. Superintendent of Schools Kem Keithly said Friday morning.

The school was closed briefly last Friday and all day this Monday, Thursday and Friday because of gasoline fumes entering the school through the sewer system. The fumes are escaping from a leak in a gasoline pipe at Freese Dairy, 100 South Prospect. The leak was repaired, but gas in the soil around Mark Twain forced fumes into a sump pump opening in the school's basement Wednesday.

Keithly declined to divulge details of the student relocation plan Friday morning because he had not yet discussed them with school board president Glenn "Mack" Kell. Keithly said Thursday night, however, "there is a strong possibility" the students will be moved to other district schools next week until the school administration and the city sanitation department are "absolutely certain" the fume problem is resolved.

Friday morning, city sanitation crews had "plugged off" the sewer leading into the school and were busy flushing the sewer line with detergents and water to rid it of the fumes. This is being done by injecting water into a sewer line in front of an Adco Inc. warehouse on Main Street and then moving the water to a sewer in the alley behind Mark Twain. Here it is being relayed, through a fire hose, to a sewer about a block away in the 700 block of West Main.

Because of this work and the exposed fire hoses, Grand Avenue, from Main to

Teasdale still neutral

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Joseph Teasdale said today that he will not get involved in the dispute over construction of the controversial Meramec Dam since a proposed referendum on the issue will probably not be held.

Teasdale told newsmen that he believed the only way to determine the public's feeling on the dam construction was through a referendum and now that referendum proposals have effectively been killed in the Senate and bottled up in a House committee that public sentiment cannot be determined.

"My neutrality throughout the campaign for governor is not going to change," Teasdale said. "It is now up to the discretion and judgment of the Congress of the United States as to the fate of the Meramec Dam."

Democratic U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton has said he will withdraw his support for the dam construction without a positive show of support from the state.

Next stop for Vance is Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance flew today from Beirut to Amman, the capital of Jordan, for talks with King Hussein on the prospects of a Middle East peace.

The 24-hour visit to Jordan was the fourth stop on the secretary's Mideastern tour after visits to Israel, Egypt and Lebanon.

One of the topics Vance is expected to take up with King Hussein is Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's suggestion for "an official and declared link" between Jordan and the Palestinians in advance of a reconvened Geneva conference.

The secretary said before leaving Beirut that Egypt was beginning to move toward a compromise with Israel on the Palestinian question blocking renewal of Arab-Israeli peace negotiations.

Vance's visit to Jordan may be complicated by published reports that Hussein, under an operation called "No Beef," has been receiving payments from the Central Intelligence Agency since the 1950s. The secretary had no comment on the story.

In Beirut, Vance conferred briefly with Foreign Minister Fuad Bultros and with President Salim el Hoss and lunched with President Elias Sarkis, whose efforts to stabilize the war-torn country under Syria's direction has firm U.S. support.

Vance's meetings were held in the hills overlooking Beirut where Christians and Moslems fought some of their toughest battles during the 19-month civil war that ended last November.

On the flight from Cairo, Vance said he had found Egyptian President Anwar Sadat "completely frank and forthcoming."

Besides Egypt's economic distress, which the Carter administration is trying to alleviate with $500 million in aid, Sadat asked Vance for some indication whether Egypt could receive U.S. arms.

Vance told reporters in Beirut that Sadat's proposal for a Jordanian-Palestinian linkup "begins to move toward the suggestions by the Israelis as to how the Palestinian question might be resolved."

"Therefore there appears to be some narrowing of the differing positions, and in that respect it seems to me that is a constructive effort," he said.

Israel has refused to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization, which it considers a terrorist group but which the Arab nations recognize as the representative of the Palestinian people. But Israeli leaders have indicated they would talk with a Jordanian delegation that included "authentic leaders" from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan river.

Special section is what's cooking

What are the secrets to prize-winning barbecued chicken? Where can I find easy recipes for children to cook? How can I prepare pork chops a new way?

The answers to these questions plus favorite warm weather recipes of friends and neighbors can be found in the annual spring recipe section, "Let's Eat Outside," in Sunday's Democrat-Capital.

Even though the weather is still cold and blustery, it won't be long before warm weather arrives and the family wants to picnic, barbecue, camp out or engage in a variety of outdoor activities.

This recipe section will provide some fresh ideas for easy summer meals.

Corps, state examine ways to keep finds in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Representatives from the University of Missouri, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of Natural Resources met at the Capitol Thursday to discuss what could be done to keep archaeological artifacts from the Truman Reservoir area in the state.

Sen. Harold Caskey, D-Butler, called the meeting because residents of the reservoir area in the west central part of the state expressed concern that the corps was removing archaeological findings and that the artifacts were being studied outside Missouri.

The meeting was also attended by Sen. John Ryan, R-Sedalia; Rep. Morris Westfall, R-Halfway; and Rep. Robert Dunning, D-Clinton.

W. Raymond Wood, professor of anthropology at the university, said the reservoir area is one of the most important archeological sites in the United States.

The area, Wood said, has a cultural record dating back 40,000 years with traces of human habitation as far back as 10,500 years. Remains of many animals have been discovered including mammoth, mastodons, musk ox, native American horses, alligators, camels, giant sloth, and giant beaver.

University of Missouri researchers excavated the area but some of the artifacts are now at the Illinois State Museum being studied by a researcher who worked on the project.

Mel Johnson of the Corps of Engineers said the remains could be kept in Missouri if the proper institution can be found to curate and study them. Remains found there now come under government ownership, he said.

"We'd like to keep the materials as close to home as possible," he said. "We will return them to Missouri if there is qualified staff and proper environmental control facilities to house them."

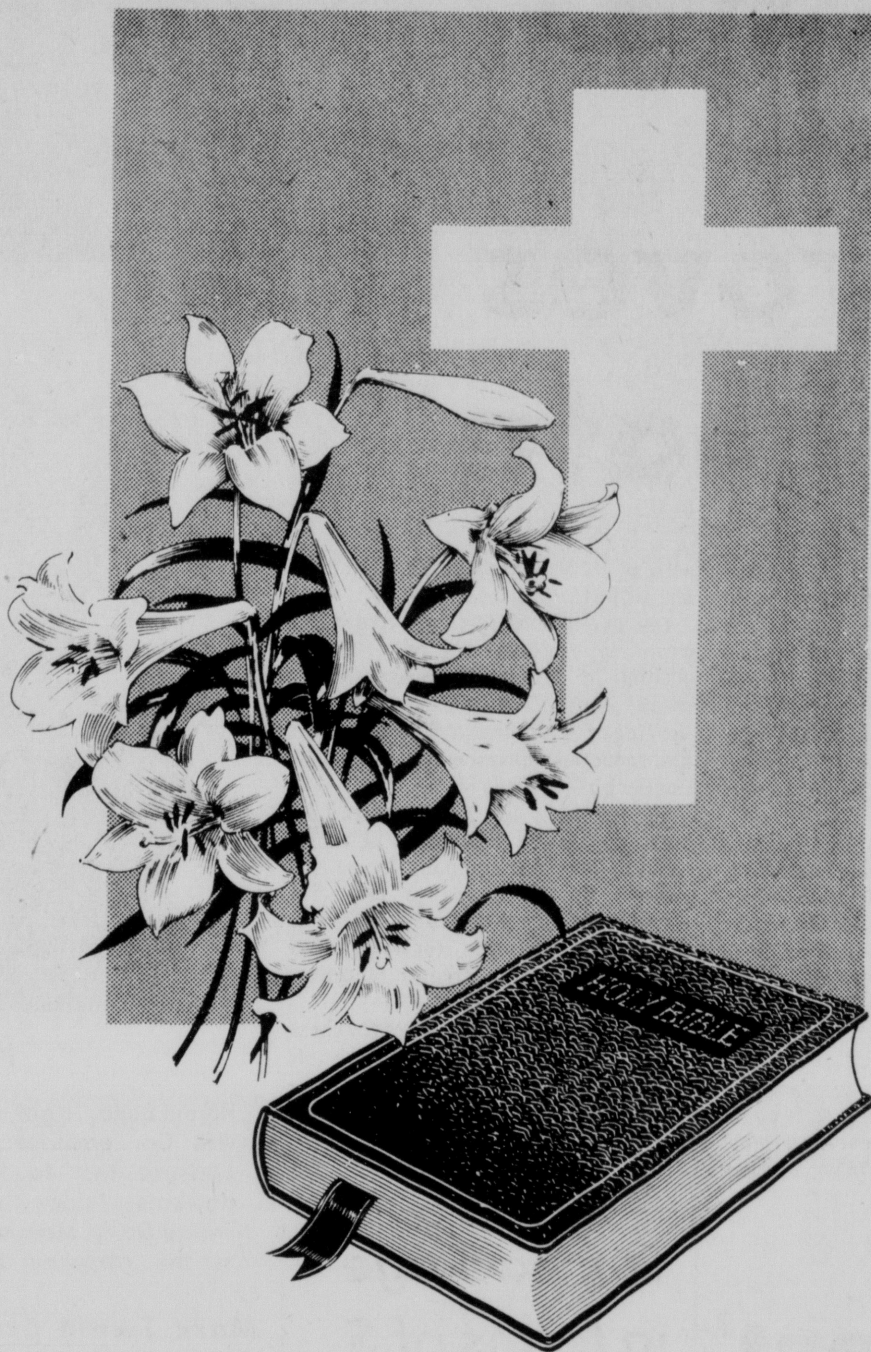

The university does not have a facility right now in which to store them, Wood said. But Carl Chapman, an archaeology professor, indicated there is a possibility of setting up a suitable facility to house the collection.

The Corps of Engineers plans to build a visitors center near the dam site which will include a display of some of the materials and artifacts from the area.

The meeting was called, Caskey said, to see what could be done about the situation. He is going to offer an amendment to a pending Senate bill to include protection of Pleistocene vertebrae bones.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Warren Welliver, D-Hartsburg, would provide for the preservation and protection of all relics, artifacts, remains and objects of historic or archaeological value that are found on state land.

New sanctuary ready

The Church of the Open Bible will dedicate its new sanctuary located west of Sedalia on Green Ridge Road during special services at 3 p.m. Sunday. The $300,000 structure, erected by Tempel-Callison Co., replaces the sanctuary built at Fifth and Hancock in the 1920's.

Open Bible dedication services Sunday

The Church of the Open Bible will dedicate its new sanctuary on Green Ridge road during special ceremonies at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The $300,000 structure, erected by Tempel-Callison Co., contains a magnificent sanctuary covered with plush gold carpet, a gold ceiling and red pews. The 130-foot by 70-foot structure also contains a 40-by-60 foot fellowship hall.

Seating capacity of the new church is 450, with 350 in the main auditorium and an additional 100 in the overflow area, separated by glass partitions and located behind the auditorium.

The church is built entirely on ground level, permitting easy entrance, and features a sheltered entrance for unloading of cars and buses in bad weather.

The new sanctuary, which replaced the one built at Fifth and Hancock in the early 1920's, will be a definite asset to the community and a testimony to the glory of God, said the Rev. Merlin Nelson, pastor.

Special dedication services will be held each day next week, including seminars at 1 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and evening services at 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The Thursday evening service will feature the pastor's community challenge, with the Rev. James Kane of Maplewood Church as guest speaker.

Gospel music association formed here

The Old Fashioned Gospel Music Association, a local group of gospel music enthusiasts, was formally organized this week to promote gospel music in the Sedalia area.

The first goal of the new group, according to its president, Danny Fore, organ instrumentalist, is to promote activities coinciding with national Gospel Music Month in March.

Fourteen different singing groups in the Sedalia area are already involved, Fore said, and invited interested persons to attend the next luncheon meeting of the association at noon on March 2 at State Fair Motor Inn.

The other newly-elected officers of the nondenominational association are Harvey Martin, music director at Emmett Avenue Baptist Church; Charles Meyers, pianist for the Variations; and Helen Gray, secretary for United Way. Persons seeking more information on the group and its activities are urged to contact one of the officers for more information.

Bible course offered here next month

A three-part course on the Bible will be offered next month through the University of Missouri and its Extension service here.

Dr. William M. Jones, professor of English at the University of Missouri-Columbia, will teach the course. It is entitled, "A Persistent Brightness: The Bible's Eternal Truth."

The sessions will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. March 14, 21 and 28 at Wesley United Methodist Church. Enrollment deadline is March 7.

The first session will deal with "God as Creator," as revealed in the Book of Genesis. The second is entitled "God as Liberator," and covers the Gospel of Luke and Acts. The final session is "God as Perpetuator," as depicted in the Book of Revelation.

Dr. Jones taught a similar course on Shakespeare here last winter.

Sedalia film is shown to Kiwanis club

Kiwanians saw a slide-tape show on Sedalia at their luncheon meeting Thursday at the Bothwell Hotel.

Robert Woolery, dean of community services at State Fair Community College, presented the 10-minute show, which was prepared by SFCC for the Chamber of Commerce. The slides are designed primarily to sell Sedalia to potential industrial developers.

Don Braden introduced the program.

Guests were Bud Philpot, Kansas City, with Jim Rice, and Robert Schwindt, media director at SFCC, with Sylvan Woolery.

President Bill Mills reminded members of the Kiwanis Pancake Day, which will be held Saturday at State Fair Restaurant. Proceeds from Pancake Day go to youth work in the community.

When catnip, a member of the mint family, is crushed, it has an odor which is very attractive to cats.

Early terracing paid handsomely

People looked at Edwin Prigel a little strangely back in 1945 when he began carving one of his fields into his first "terrace," a maze of funny-looking channels and waterways.

The terraces were evenly-built "walls" of earth running cross-ways to the natural slope of the land. Inside were eight- to 10-inch-deep channels which in turn were connected to waterways, grass-covered troughs that acted as natural "gutters."

Prigel called this soil conservation. A lot of others called it extra work.

More than 30 years later, that original network of channels and waterways at his farm 20 miles west of Warrensburg is still doing its job. No one's giving him strange looks anymore.

Among Prigel's converts were the approximately 200 persons who gathered Thursday night at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria for the second annual meeting of the Pettis County Soil and Water Conservation District.

"One of the most beautiful sights is to see a good terrace system after a hard rain," Prigel said. As chairman of the Johnson County Soil and Water Conservation District and a past president of the state soil district association, he was not being facetious. Conservation is a subject very dear to him.

"We've seen reams and reams of rhetoric about ecology and the environment," he said. "These are just fancy names for what we've been doing for years."

Prigel lauded his Pettis County audience for what he said was an excellent past year of soil and water management. About 2,400 miles of terracing was constructed in the state in 1976, he said, with 80 of those miles coming from Pettis County.

Live-back lagoons have also been springing up around the county, he said, with about 240 added state-wide last year. These animal sewage ponds, he said later, are an important part of water conservation, since they prevent livestock waste from running off into rivers and streams. And, when the lagoons are filled, the contents can be used as fertilizer, he said.

Prigel also praised the farming life in general, saying a farmer lives "closer to God and further from the telephone" than anyone. And, he said, "we not only raise good crops, we raise good kids."

Making sure that there is something to leave those kids is a major goal of soil and water conservation, he said. A farmer with a terraced field "can sleep a little better on a rainy night," he said.

The soil and water conservation districts in Missouri, Prigel said later, receive only a small portion of their funding from the state department of natural resources.

Contract for chapel is let

MARSHALL — A $571,600 contract was awarded to Ivinbilt Construction Co. of Chillicothe Wednesday by the Missouri Valley College board of trustees' building committee for construction of the Mabee Memorial Chapel here.

Designed by the Kansas City architectural firm of Tagnascioli — Gross Jarvis Architects, Inc., the new facility will house speech and drama and music departments. A small meditation chapel will be located in the building and will be named Stewart Meditation Chapel to perpetuate the name of the building which was destroyed by fire recently.

A major gift from Mabee Petroleum Co. of Tulsa, Okla., combined with many generous gifts from friends and alumni of the college made the project possible.

Construction will begin as soon as possible, with completion expected by Dec. 31.

Women's group planning dinner

The Sedalia Christian Business and Professional Women's Council will hold its annual men's night dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Old Missouri Homestead.

A family musical ensemble from Overland Park, Kan., Paul and Mary Lou Ordway and their two teen-age children, will be the featured speakers.

Tickets may be purchased at Chapman's, Maplewood Bible and Book Store or reservations may be made by calling 827-3084.

Scientists to study pollution in Topeka

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Topeka's pollution may be making its way to the East Coast and the possibility has brought a team of Harvard University scientists to the state capital.

A survey team headed by Charles G. Humble will study the effects of pollutants on human health for the next five weeks. It is part of a 20-year study on how sulfur in the air affects lungs in England, Canada and the United States.

Humble said Topeka was selected for study because it may be the breaking point between clear air from the west and pollution moving to the Atlantic coast. He said the new coal-fired generating station being built outside Topeka may also spew additional sulfur dioxide into the air that could affect their study.

"Sulfur dioxide is given off mainly by the coal and oil-fired steam plants used by public utilities to produce electricity and by certain heavy industries such as steel mills," Humble said.

He said different types of sulfur vary in adverse effects to human lungs.

Justice, law enforcement talk topics

A discussion of criminal justice, law enforcement and juvenile correction policies and practices, presented by Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, highlighted the weekly meeting Tuesday morning of the Sunrise Optimist Club held at Sambo's restaurant.

Following Fairfax's remarks, club members discussed various upcoming club projects, including respect for law week activities, bicycle safety week activities and, in conjunction with the Sedalia Noon Optimist Club, holding a Miss Sedalia pageant.

Tuesday evening, the club held a sweetheart banquet at Maxine's Gourmet House. Guest speaker for the event was Leo Lewis.

Johnson grass seminar planned

SYRACUSE — The Morgan County Johnson grass workshop will be held at the First Baptist Church here at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A University of Missouri Extension agent and representatives of various chemical companies will present a program on control of Johnson grass and other problem weeds.

The public is invited to attend.

NEED HELP DECORATING?

The correct floor covering can enhance a room more than any other single item in the decorating plan of your home.

It becomes the focus of a room's personality...adding color, warmth and charm.

The pattern, design or texture of your carpet should complement the size of the room and the style of the room's decor and furniture.

Your carpet should be selected with the room's use and traffic in mind.

Color and designs chosen for draperies, upholstery and wall coverings should be compatible with the floor covering you select.

I would like to help you make the correct choice in selecting your carpet. All it takes is a phone call from you and I will be happy to come to your home or place of business and show you samples and give you estimates. Call today.

Bethke will seek city council slot

Art Bethke, 65, 1013 East Sixth, has announced that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Second Ward councilman at the ward's party caucus meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at Washington School.
Bethke served as city sanitation superintendent for 12 years before retiring in September, 1974. He previously was employed 33 years at the local Missouri-Pacific shops. Bethke said he is particularly interested in the proposed plans for developing the new city park at Grand and Clinton Road. Also, Bethke stated, "I want to continue to serve the citizens of Sedalia."
Incumbent Second Ward Democrat Raymond Bales said Friday morning he will announce Tuesday whether he will seek his party's nomination for another term.

Carter says first month was good one

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter today pronounced his first month in office a good one.
Carter told an organization meeting of the finance panel of the Democratic National Committee he has had "a good almost month" in office. The President took office Jan. 20.
"I've learned a lot," he said. "I've not yet been discouraged by anything ... I have become confident about the future of our country."
He cited "a growing sense of partnership" with Congress and with the Democratic party but added he senses "the danger of isolating myself from those who can be a constant guide and inspiration to me."
"Our strength is derived from American people who don't have much influence, who can't come to Washington for meetings ... they best typify what our nation is and what it has got to be."
Saying he wants to abolish special privilege and reduce regulations, forms and guidelines which tend to burden ordinary Americans, Carter said he wanted his errors to be "on the side of letting the American people know what we're doing."
"I'm going to be very careful about what I say, but I believe it's better for the American people to know about my decisions as they evolve," he said.
He renewed his pledge to hold two news conferences a month, more fireside chats and question-and-answer sessions with the public on a radio talk show.
The finance committee met to reorganize the structure of national and local fund raising, one aide said.

Pigeon shoot is scheduled here

A pigeon shoot in the downtown business district, to be sponsored by the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club, will be held the morning of Feb. 26.
The shoot will be limited to the vicinity of the Sedalia Public Library, Pettis County Courthouse and the Sedalia Community Center. Persons wanting to shoot in other downtown areas must contact Rod and Gun Club president Gil Campbell, 826-5200, or the Sedalia Police Department, 826-8100.
In accordance with city ordinances, the pigeon shoot will take place under the supervision of the Sedalia Police Department and only authorized persons will be allowed to shoot fire arms.

Riding in style

The space shuttle orbiter "Enterprise" is carried aloft on its first flight Friday, mounted atop a modified 747 mother ship at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The flight is one of five the "Enterprise" will make prior to making manned flights. Later it will be rocketed into space and return to earth like a regular airplane. (UPI)

State tax revamp passes committee

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Revision of the state income tax system to shift the burden of the tax to those with higher incomes has cleared a Missouri House committee.
The proposal, sent to the full House on Thursday by the Revenue Committee under pressure from the Democratic leadership, is an alternative to straight tax credits for the elderly poor. An elderly poor tax credit proposal, a priority item for both Gov. Joseph Teasdale and the House Democratic leadership, was rejected twice by the committee earlier this week.
Also on Thursday, Teasdale met with House leaders and committee chairmen behind closed doors. Speaker Kenneth Rothman, who has refused newsmen admittance to those sessions public under previous speakers, said the meeting dealt only with procedural questions on House policies.
"There's nothing insidious going on, there's nothing to hide," Rothman said. "People just feel more comfortable and say what they really think."
Teasdale has said he does not believe that provisions of the state open meetings law prohibiting any constitutional entity from holding closed meetings except in limited cases apply to him when as governor he discusses public business with others.
The push for some type of tax reform began last year as a group of voters mustered enough support to put an exemption of food and drugs from all sales tax on the November ballot. Opponents of that proposal were successful in defeating it, but lawmakers and Teasdale, who campaigned for tax breaks for individuals, have felt continued pressure for revision of the present system. A special commission is reviewing the tax structure but has yet to make any recommendations.

Callis is named a vice president

Don Callis, Route 3, has been named a vice president of the National Livestock Feeders Association at a meeting of the 12,000-member group held this week in St. Louis.
Also at the meeting, the association voted to merge with the American National Cattlemen's Association to form a new organization to be called the National Cattlemen's Association. The Cattlemen's Association, which has more than 16,000 members, approved the merger earlier this year. Consolidation of the two groups will take effect Sept. 1.
Under the approved merger plan, the new organization will be headquartered in Denver.

About 36 million persons who receive Social Security, railroad retirement or aid to the aged, blind and disabled would be eligible for a special $50 payment in lieu of a tax rebate.
The committee also put other groups on the list for checks, including coal miners suffering from black-lung disease, recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children and veterans or their widows.

Carter won't give up right to family time

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, noting he can get away from reporters when he wants, says he's not going to give up his right to private times with his family, including daughter Amy.
Meeting with a group of seven reporters on Thursday, Carter also admitted to second thoughts about permitting coverage of Cabinet meetings. He said some officers expressed fears of looking "silly" if they raised ideas in front of reporters only to see them "shot down" during the discussion.
Carter initiated the meeting with reporters to discuss a variety of problems they have in covering his presidency.
When they complained that he sometimes ventures out in public without allowing "pool" coverage, the President indicated he would consider permitting a small complement of reporters and photographers to accompany him in the future. He did just that in an unannounced theater appearance earlier in the week, but didn't notify the press in an earlier visit to the opera with his daughter.
But he also made this observation: "I'm not going to relinquish my right to the opera with my wife or pick up arrowheads on my farm without prior notice to the press."

The meeting with reporters took place in the Cabinet Room, where Carter meets with the heads of executive agencies on a regular basis. At first, he said, he thought it might be a good idea to permit coverage of those sessions.
But given the Cabinet members' objections, he is now considering a "mid-levelground" approach to give reporters "full and accurate" minutes of each Cabinet session.

RFK's son fined on traffic charges

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — David Kennedy, 21-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, has been fined $20 after pleading guilty to two motor vehicle violations.
Kennedy was charged by Arlington, Mass., police with failing to stop at a stop sign, operating a motor vehicle without a license in his possession and operating an unregistered and uninsured motor vehicle.
He was found innocent of two other motor vehicle charges Thursday by Judge Lawrence Felony in Cambridge District Court.
The Harvard University student was charged after allegedly failing to stop at an intersection shortly after 1 a.m. on Jan. 25.
He pleaded guilty to the first two charges and was fined $10 on each.

Humphrey to get '77 Truman award

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — The 1977 Harry S. Truman Public Service Award will go to former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.
Mayor Richard King announced Thursday the Minnesota senator will receive the award May 6 in ceremonies on the steps of the Truman Library Independence.
Previous winners of the award include former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger; Leon Jaworski, former Watergate special prosecutor, and Stuart Symington, former Missouri senator.

Trudeau visit hopefully will mend problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau are meeting next week for the first time, determined to mend some battered old fences in a mood of good neighborliness.
The agenda for the Canadian leader's two-day visit starting Monday is loaded with issues ranging from rival fishing rights to nuclear controls, from pollution of rivers to human rights.
The visit will also pack a certain symbolism. The Carter-Trudeau encounter like this week's meeting between Carter and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, suggests that Carter is placing high priority on fostering good relations with the nations of the Western Hemisphere.
The focus of the two leaders' talks on Monday will be on international matters, including the projected London economic summit talks, East-West relations, checking the spread of nuclear technology and equipment, arms sales and the law of the sea.
On Tuesday they are to turn to strictly U.S.-Canadian issues, with the emphasis on economic, environmental and energy matters that concern both. Each nation faces formidable problems of employment, inflation and trading abroad.
Neither wants to follow policies that might restrict the free flow of world business and, particularly, the quest for understanding between the nations of the industrialized Northern Hemisphere and the developing states of the Southern Hemisphere.
The energy problem not only divides but also unites the two countries. Neither has enough. Each is exploring for more.
This has brought them into conflict over where their rights begin and end on the continental shelves they share in the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans. Talks on this subject, and on each country's newly-planned 200-mile fishing zones, have failed to resolve certain conflicts.

Polly's pointers

White vinegar erases hem line

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — For many years I have used the following so as to cut down on so many trips to the dry cleaners. Often I take a clean cloth or brush and dip in rubbing alcohol I keep in a glass container and clean spots of grease, etc. Hang garment for an hour for the wetness to evaporate and I have never been left with any stains or circles. Test first to see effect on fabric. — AUDREY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those who do a lot of knitting or crocheting. I buy yarn when I see it on sale and save it for future use so have many many skeins to store. I get several of those divided boxes from the liquor store (most have 12 dividers for quart bottles) cover them with adhesive backed paper and pile them one on top of the other after each box division is filled with one color of yarn. It is easy to see how much I have on hand of one kind or color and little space is required for the stacked boxes.

Many of my hobbies require the use of minute sized beads and to keep them separated as to kinds and colors I place them in old ice cube trays and they are easily stacked for storage. A piece of cotton is put over each section to keep them from spilling out and I cover each entire tray with a clear plastic wrap. — P.J.W.

DEAR POLLY — I am a freshman in a new school and was wasting a lot time having to be constantly consulting my schedule which meant digging through my purse to find it. Many seem to have the same problem but I have solved it by taping my schedule on the inside flap of my purse and the idea is working great with no more fumbling around and no more being late to classes. — KERI.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — When I let a hem down in a skirt or dress I am left with a ring where the hem was turned up so I would like to know how to remove it. — MRS. C.L.

DEAR MRS. C.L. — If the ring is a soil line you will have to pre-treat that line before laundering the garment or point it out to the dry cleaner if the garments have to be dry cleaned. When such a line is a crease line wet a cloth with a mixture of white vinegar and water, wring out and use as a pressing cloth. This has never failed to work for me and when line is very stubborn I have used pure vinegar alone after testing on an inconspicuous place. — POLLY. (NEA)

Making someone happy

Going to the circus is no big deal for most folks, but it was recently for Joe Krieg Jr., 34, of Royal Oak, Mich. Krieg has been paralyzed from his neck down and dependent on an iron lung since he was stricken with polio in the mid 1950s. Krieg ventured to see the Shrine Circus in Detroit with special electrical hookups to maintain his breathing apparatus. "It's exciting," said Krieg, who clowned with circus funnymen Blinkey (left) and Happy Kellems.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

'Roughage' not in fact rough

Dear Dr. Lamb — Two years ago I passed out from lack of blood and was rushed to the hospital. An X ray showed I had a hiatal hernia. I was lucky as they were able to give me blood and stop the bleeding.

Would it be all right in my case to continue on the roughage diet you suggested in one of your columns? I am concerned about it being rough and passing the place where the hernia is located. The doctor wants me to take Tylenol instead of aspirin. I have heard that Tylenol has some bad side effects and shouldn't be taken.

I have had constipation for a number of years and have such wonderful results since trying your roughage diet. I know it isn't rough after it gets into the intestines but I am worried about how rough it is on the hiatal hernia or to the ulcer patient. I will be very anxious to hear from you.

massive as you must have experienced.

Tylenol has some side effects as do all medicines, including aspirin. Since you are not taking any medicines that tend to prevent blood clotting, as used in heart patients, it is probably good advice in your case to use it instead of aspirin. Aspirin can prolong a normal person's blood-clotting time and in large amounts — sometimes not so large — can cause bleeding. With your history your doctor probably thinks it would be better for you to use a pain killer that is not going to increase your blood-clotting time. You didn't say why you needed pain relief medicines, but neither aspirin nor Tylenol are particularly good in relieving pain originating from the digestive system. Both are useful for muscular aches and pains or headaches.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I know this girl who takes birth control pills. She said she was sick of taking them so she told her husband to take them. I said a man couldn't take her pills. Is that right? What will they do to him?

Dear Reader — The birth control pills you are speaking of are female hormones. If he takes them in sufficient quantity she won't need to worry about sex or pregnancy. She won't even need to worry about her husband being interested in women at all. (NEA)

Dear Reader — If you use one of the bran breakfast foods and allow the cereal to stand in sufficient milk it will be quite soft by the time you start to eat it. In this condition it will not harm the hiatal hernia or an ulcer.

You may have had a small ulcer of the lower esophagus where the hiatal hernia is located. That sometimes occurs and may be associated with bleeding — sometimes

Bell adds to doubts on King slaying

WASHINGTON — Who really was behind the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.?

Rowan

Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell has added new doubts to those held by many Americans who have never believed that it was conceived and executed solely by a Southern ne'er-do-well, James Earl Ray.

The report led him to believe that there was a conspiracy to kill the nation's greatest civil rights leader, Bell said:

"I think that if you read the report, you'll — you could lean to either side on it. You could say that there's no evidence of a conspiracy; but you could still wonder, you know, if there were — if there happened to be a conspiracy."

The attorney general added that this is why he wants to release the report — "I wanted everybody to be able to read the report, make their own minds up about it."

It is imperative to the national well-being that this report is released in full — especially since the House Assassinations Committee has self-destructed in disgusting conflict between its chairman, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, and its chief counsel, Richard Sprague.

I am among those who cannot understand where Ray got the money for the automobile he allegedly used to leave the Memphis assassination scene, or for the airline tickets he used to flee to Europe. I am convinced that someone or some agency with experience in forging passports and other documents assisted him in providing the phony travel papers he used.

Very clearly the FBI is suspect. Bell as much as said this when he said the report he referred to was "couched in terms of assessing the job...that the FBI did."

It has been established that the late

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover detested Dr. King. He had his telephones tapped, his hotel rooms bugged, he placed him under physical surveillance, he sent squads of rumormongers around the nation to try to blacken King's reputation with the media and other opinion-makers. Most despicable of all, we know that Hoover's FBI tried to induce King to commit suicide by mailing to his wife, Coretta King, a tape recording suggesting misconduct by the black leader.

While James Earl Ray was fleeing, some FBI operatives were trying to sell me the spurious line that the Russians had killed King because of some hitch in his relations with "Soviet spies."

We may never know the truth — but we must search for it. Bell must release to the public every word of that report about the FBI's performance.

House Speaker Thomas (Tip) O'Neill should see that the Gonzalez committee is disbanded in entirety, and that another investigative committee with a totally new staff is named.

There is now no way the current committee can say anything to the American public that would be believable.

Yet, Atty. Gen. Bell's comments make it clear that some committee or some official is going to have to say a lot more about King's murder than has been said to the people up till now.

Doc B will be missed

By DOUG KNEIBERT

It was exactly a week ago, in the course of making a crash landing at the foot of a Colorado ski slope, that I sprained my right thumb. I told my wife at the time that if it was still bothering me once I got home, I'd have my doctor take a look at it.

More about that ski trip later. The big news — the tragic news — I was to find out a few days ago, was that Dr. Elliot Braverman was dead.

I can't claim to have known Dr. Braverman that well. I really only got acquainted with him last summer, when he sentenced me to a week in the hospital for a back disc problem. But he was one of those physicians in whom you place unquestioned confidence, hence the feeling of personal loss.

Faced with forced idleness for a week, I drug along to the hospital a thick volume of Tolstoy, which Doc took a dim view of and plied me instead with some of his old Louis L'Amour Westerns. He managed to hook me to an extent, and I even carried a few L'Amour books with me to Colorado. I had been meaning to wean Doc away from L'Amour's deserts to Horatio Hornblower's quarterdeck one of these days to show him what real adventure writing was all about.

To the hospital patient who is concerned primarily with the state of his own body, Doc Braverman could be madly denigratingly taciturn. But in other areas his interests ranged far and wide, and we spent several mornings discussing such subjects as child care, books, the state of medical science and, one of his personal manias, gambling. I'm sure we kept more than one patient wondering where his doctor was.

One of Doc's more endearing qualities was his sense of humor, which tended to be dry—if not downright arid. It had a touch of the gallows thrown in, and on more than one occasion he informed me, with disappointment in his voice, that he thought I would escape what he was fond of calling "the benefits of cold steel."

In a letter to this newspaper, Dr. Braverman's widow, Barbara, recounts how her husband decided to settle in Sedalia 14 years ago. "When he first came to town to look it over, he sat on a bench in front of the courthouse and talked all day to many elderly gentlemen," she writes. "When he came back to Boston, he told me it was a fine place to live and raise our children and that the people of Sedalia needed him."

The people of Sedalia paid their final respects to Doc Braverman last week, at one of the largest funerals ever seen in the community. I'm sorry I missed it.

But I'll always treasure my last conversation with Doc, which occurred just before we were to depart for Colorado. I had run into him at dinner one evening, and asked him if he thought I was up to going skiing.

Go ahead, he told me, adding that he needed the business.

Third try on grant for Sedalia mural

The city of Sedalia is still waiting for a matching grant from the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) to help pay for the Municipal Building mural that is rapidly nearing completion.

As reported in yesterday's paper, this will be the third time the city has gone cap in hand to Washington to get the $5,000. This money was all but promised — verbally at any rate — at the time the city undertook the mural, but the NEA has been hesitant to put its money where its mouth is.

Muralist Eric Bransby is scheduled to finish the Sedalia work in his Kansas City studio by April. Those members of the Sedalia Art Commission who have viewed the mural in progress have been favorably impressed.

This kind of project should be what the National Endowment is all about. Here is a relatively small town, rich in history and tradition, attempting to do its part to preserve this heritage in the form of art work for all to see. It should be a natural for the NEA's "art in public places" category, under which, incidentally, no money has been spent in Missouri in the last four years.

In such cities as St. Louis and Kansas City, the NEA appears to have no shortage of funds to finance various artistic endeavors. Why can't some of this money find its way to Sedalia?

The City Council budgeted $5,000 at the time the mural was approved to pay its anticipated share of the cost. Now it is entirely possible that the city will have to foot the entire bill.

Sen. Thomas Eagleton has been reminded of the city's situation, but we don't think things should stop there. We also have a new senator and representative in Washington, both of whom are eager to serve, and we would hope that they, too will go to bat for Sedalia.

No one particularly likes to resort to "politics" in such situations, but this may be what it takes to get the National Endowment to take its eyes off the big cities and pay some attention to what Sedalia is doing in the arts.

Merry-go-round

'Watergate Liddy' is seeking a parole

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — G. Gordon Liddy, the silent man of the Watergate conspiracy, may soon be set free. Although he won't be eligible for parole until 1981, he has asked the Justice Department to commute his sentence. The request, according to our sources, is under "serious consideration."

The tight-lipped Liddy, a tenacious little man with a Groucho Marx mustache and a macho manner, had flair. Once he held his hand over a burning candle to impress friends.

Another time, he pulled out a pistol and shot out a street light so that Sen. George McGovern's presidential headquarters could be observed under proper cover of darkness. As an assistant district attorney, he whipped out a gun in court and fired at the ceiling to dramatize a robbery case. He was a fast draw.

For a mercifully brief period, Liddy thought he had been instructed by Jeb Magruder to kill me, a mission whose merit he divined automatically and embraced without question. He was on his way to gun me down when he was apprised that he had misunderstood Magruder. Liddy was disturbed over Magruder's imprecision of speech. "Where I come from," he grumbled, "that means a rub-out."

Later, Liddy tried to obtain some exotic poisons from the Central Intelligence Agency to use against me in a more sophisticated plot. "He hates the other side," Richard Nixon said of him.

Liddy was drummed off to prison, mouth shut and head erect, for a 21-year sentence. He became known to his fellow inmates at the Danbury, Conn., penitentiary and the Allentown, Pa., prison farm as "Watergate Liddy." The prison records show that he has continued his nontalkative ways. A supervisor reported that Liddy "can be relied upon not to talk out of turn or pass on rumors."

What he learns in the office stays in the office, and what he learns in the yard stays in the yard."

Liddy won't be eligible for parole until May 1981, after serving eight years, two months. In contrast, the men responsible for Watergate — John Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman — will be eligible for parole after only 30 months in the slammer.

Lesser Watergate figures, such as former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, received light, suspended sentences. And, of course, Richard Nixon was pardoned for his White House crimes.

The Justice Department has received several letters, meanwhile, urging leniency for Liddy. We have had access to his confidential file.

For instance, Chesterfield Smith, former president of the American Bar Association, wrote: "The sentence given Mr. Liddy ... seems to me to be outrageously out of line with sentences in the federal criminal justice system given to others under similar circumstances." Smith suggested that Liddy received excessive punishment for refusing to squeal on his associates.

Yale law professor Dennis E. Curtis wrote that Liddy's sentence was "so grossly disparate" that it "can only reflect distrust and discontent with our sentencing system." The sentence, he noted, was "more than ten times as great as the sentences received by most of the Watergate group."

The final decision whether to commute Liddy's sentence will be up to President Jimmy Carter, who, in the past, has advocated equal sentences for the same crimes.

CHINESE FALLOUT: A confidential government report accuses the Environmental Protection Agency of failing to protect the public from the radioactive clouds that drifted over the United States last year from out of China.

At the time, we charged that the EPA's warning system broke down and failed to detect the first traces of radioactivity from the Chinese nuclear explosion. We also reported that EPA neglected to warn farmers in advance that the fallout might contaminate milk.

The General Accounting Office has confirmed our story. According to its confidential findings, EPA "was unable to effectively carry out its responsibilities for monitoring radiation levels to determine whether they presented a public hazard." The result, states the report, was "misunderstanding, concern and confusion."

The government investigators also found bureaucratic bungling by both the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. ERDA is responsible for alerting the public to nuclear tests by foreign countries. Yet ERDA never notified the NRC which, therefore, mistakenly concluded that the radioactivity was caused by airborne particles from a nuclear reactor in Pennsylvania.

The NRC, in turn, didn't report the fallout readings to EPA until "five days after the fallout occurred." The agency finally found out about the extent of contamination from Pennsylvania state officials. Not until then did EPA rush out a belated press release.

Footnote: An EPA spokesman acknowledged that there were "shortcomings in its procedures," but that they are being corrected. An NRC spokesman said it was EPA's responsibility to protect the public from radioactive fallout.

Missing Money: The Internal Revenue Service's cantankerous computers have fouled up many a taxpayer. They may be comforted to learn that the computers also shortchanged Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander, himself, of $8 on his last paycheck.

East signalled with the jack of hearts at trick one so West continued with the ace and another heart. East ruffed and South overruffed. South cashed one of his high trumps, led a second trump to dummy, led the queen of clubs and dropped his jack under it. West gathered in the third defensive trick with the king and led a club back. With three tricks down the drain, South paused to study the diamond situation. He could take a simple finesse against the queen but that finesse wasn't going to succeed. A Review of the bidding found that West had been totally quiet like the dog that failed to bark in the night. With six hearts to the ace-king and the king of clubs, West would surely have opened the bidding if he held the queen of diamonds. There was still a ray of hope. West could hold the diamond 10. So South won the club with dummy's 10 and led the jack of diamonds. East covered with the queen. It wasn't going to do him any good to duck. East took his ace, led a second diamond, finessed dummy's nine and was home.

Ann Landers

Lecherous patients grab nurses

Dear Ann Landers: Would you please print this letter as a service to practical, vocational and registered nurses everywhere? I'm sure many have run into the same problem.

The main responsibility of a nurse is to carry out the doctor's orders and to make the patient as comfortable as possible.

For some mysterious reason, most male patients seem to think we are Playboy bunnies. They talk to us and treat us as if we are there for their looking and feeling pleasure.

When we offer a male patient a backrub, it is not because of a secret desire to work in a massage parlor. Backrubs help blood circulation and prevent bedsores when the patient must lie in one position for a long time.

I say a man who is healthy enough to grab a nurse every time she goes near his bed is healthy enough to go home — and I've told a few just that.

A man wouldn't treat a female doctor or dentist that way. Why is there so little respect for us nurses? — Insulted

Dear In: I didn't realize male patients were so lecherous. What do you look like anyway?

A nurse who gets grabbed at so often should check herself out. She must be sending some sort of signals.

Dear Ann Landers: Wonderful evenings and afternoons are sometimes spoiled because guests don't know when and how to end a visit.

Please, Ann, in your own effective way, will you write a paragraph or so on graceful and timely departures, whether after lunch, tea, cocktails or dinner? Endless farewells can be deadly, and I have been victimized SO often. Thank you for any help you can give me and others who have experienced the agony. — My Name Is Legion

Dear Legion: Your plight reminds me of an old joke. The difference between the British and the Yiddish is that the British leave without saying goodbye, and the Yiddish say goodbye without leaving.

It IS strange that some guests can sit for hours without saying boo, then suddenly become downright chatty at the door, or on the porch, or in the driveway.

The classy farewell is brief and speedy. So do your hostess a favor, folks, and keep this in mind the next time you make your exit.

Dear Ann: I'm in my late 40s. The problem: My husband's ex-wife. For the past 12 years, no matter where I turn, Betty is in my way.

Whenever there's a wedding, a birth, a death or a serious illness, Betty is the first one on the scene. My in-laws, who are no longer HER family, seem overly friendly to her and "underly" friendly to me.

I've told my husband at least 50 times that Betty makes me uncomfortable. Don't you think he should be willing to leave when we arrive somewhere and she is present?

We've had several fights over this and they get more bitter as time goes on. My husband wouldn't tolerate it for one minute if my ex showed up all over the place. Your opinion, please. — Another Ann

Dear Ann: Obviously your husband's family is fond of Betty and she's going to be a permanent part of the scene.

My advice is to accept graciously what you cannot change before you find yourself estranged from all members of the family — including your husband.

PRISCILLA'S POP

Aggreement puts NFL in line with the law

NEW YORK — "Dear Mr. Dorsett:

"Greetings from the Commissioner of the National Football League. You are now subject to the draft."

Tony Dorsett, Ricky Bell and hundreds of other collegians can expect to be tapped on their collective shoulders next April and offered millions of dollars, thanks to the arrival Thursday of labor peace in the NFL.

For three years the league and the players union had conducted business as usual — the business of playing football — without a basic labor agreement. And the NFL might well have been content to continue in that fashion had not the long arm of the law reached in.

It had grabbed and shaken the league before. In two federal court rulings, the standard player contract (the Joe Kapp case) and the Rozelle Rule on option compensation

(the John Mackey case) were illegal. Still, the game went on.

But last year a federal court ruled (in the Yazoo Smith case) the college player draft, as the NFL conducted it, was illegal, a restraint of trade and all that. Thus, the system by which the league replenished itself each year was suddenly very much in jeopardy — and only a labor agreement containing some sort of draft would save it.

Further, Rozelle decreed, until a draft was conducted, teams couldn't talk contract with potential rookies. And without the draft, there was the threat of lawsuits from those rookies and their agents and the prospect of a money war similar to the multimillion-dollar bash between the NFL and the American Football League a decade ago.

Those fears apparently have now been allayed. The "apparently" is included because the agreement between the representatives of the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining agent, and the NFL Players Association has to be ratified by all the owners and union members.

Sargent Karch, executive director of the NFLMC, and Ed Garvey, his counterpart with the NFLPA, announced the "agreement in principle on a collective bargaining agreement that includes ... a modified draft."

The Associated Press has learned that draft is set for April, that it will involve eight to 10 rounds instead of the 17 of past years and that it will contain a time-limit of somewhere between six weeks and three months on talks between the teams and drafted collegians.

In other words, a player drafted by a team but unable to come to terms with the club would, after a specified time, become a free agent, eligible to deal with other teams.

Both sides were mum on any specifics — including the length — of the agreement hammered out after extended talks at the union headquarters in Washington and the Management Council offices in New York. The owners and player representatives are scheduling meetings for next week to obtain formal approval of the agreement.

Also in the agreement are subjects like the Rozelle Rule; Rozelle's arbitration powers; minimum salaries; preseason and postseason pay; pensions, and the owners' payments into the pension fund. And according to some sources, it also contains a provision for expanding the regular season from 14 to 16 games and shrinking the preseason from six to four.

Celtics' Cowens is back

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Memo to all National Basketball Association teams: Dave Cowens is back.

The once-disenchanted Boston Celtic who pondered retirement a few months ago, sparkled Thursday night in powering the Celtics past the Kansas City Kings, 126-125, in overtime.

Cowens pumped in a season-high 33 points, including Boston's final six in regulation, and directly figured in 10 of their last 12 in overtime.

He also led with 22 rebounds and seven assists, one steal and a blocked shot.

Is he back in the groove?

"It was a pretty strong effort by everybody," he replied evasively. But pressed on the point, Cowens admitted, "I don't know. I suppose."

Cowens' two free throws in the final 14 seconds sent the game into overtime tied at 114.

The Kings jumped ahead on opening baskets by Scott Wedman and Brian Taylor. Then Cowens executed a pair of left-handed hooks and feeds to Curtis Rowe and John Havlicek, and the game was over.

Cowens provided the winning points with two more free throws at the 0:08 mark.

"The Kings' reserves are depleted," Cowens said in reference to the absence of Sam Lacey, who sat out with an inflamed tendon.

"That helps us. For a while they had Bill Robinson playing center. He's out of position, so you have to get him."

The Kings, who desperately needed a victory to move ahead of Seattle in the scramble for a wild card playoff spot, were led by Taylor and Ron Boone, who each had 26 points. Havlicek got 22 for the Celtics.

The Kings squandered a 13-point lead with 9:28 to play.

"Some of it was defense, some of it was their lack of concentration," Cowens said.

Bears' Payton to be honored by 101 Club

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Walter Payton, the running back who stirred visions of Gale Sayers among Chicago Bears fans, has been named the National Football Conference Offensive Player of the Year by Kansas City's 101 Committee.

Payton rolled up 1,390 yards—including 311 in one game—during the past year with the Bears.

He will be among six National Football League honorees to be recognized at the committee's eighth annual salute to professional football Feb. 25.

Bert Jones of Baltimore is the American Football Conference Offensive Player of the Year. Jack Lambert of Pittsburgh the AFC defensive player. Jack Youngblood of the Rams is the NFC defensive player.

The AFC Coach of the Year is Chuck Fairbanks of New England and George Allen of Washington is his NFC counterpart.

Sick shooting a plague for ailing Roadrunners

UNION, Mo. — State Fair Community College took only eight players to Union, Mo., for Thursday night's game against the East Central Community College Rebels. Two other team members stayed home with the flu.

Maybe they all should have stayed home.

The Roadrunners could hit only seven of 33 shots in the first half — that's 21.6 per cent — and trailed at the intermission 44-15.

In the second half State Fair scored a respectable 34 points, but the Rebels, seventh-ranked in the nation, coasted in with an 89-49 win.

Head coach Bill Barton gave two basic reasons for State Fair's poor showing. They couldn't shoot and they didn't play good defense, and that's about as basic as reasons can be.

"We let them fast break, and we didn't get back on defense. Then we didn't play very good defense. We just gave them too many easy baskets," Barton said.

The first half statistics tell the story on the Roadrunners' cold shooting. They did better in the second half, hitting 16 of 30 shots for 53.3 per cent, and a game average of 36.5 per cent.

East Central's offense was led by Steve Tappmeyer who scored 25 points for the Rebels. Ironically, David Cochran, who ranks 12th in the nation in junior college scoring with a 26.6 point per game average, was benched for the game for disciplinary reasons. Against State Fair he wasn't missed.

The Roadrunner offense was led by Willie Williams and Leonard Dixon who each had 12 points.

The loss drops State Fair's season record to 11-18.

They have one regular season game remaining, Saturday night against conference foe Trenton Junior College at Trenton.

Scoring

State Fair (49) — James Sumlin 3, Greg Sewell 8, Pete Fiene 8, Willie Williams 12, Gary Riechmann 6, Leonard Dixon 12. East Central (89) — Derrick Ferguson 17, Ray Steinhoff 2, Houston Johnson 14, Jimmy Grigsby 4, Ray Bartle 15, Ken Brooks 11, Steve Tappmeyer 25, Charles Clonts 2.

Tigers hope to improve in last two home games

The Smith-Cotton Tigers close out their home basketball season tonight and Saturday with games against Jefferson City and Blue Springs, and head coach Dave Porter says he will have his squad ready.

The Tigers will be looking for their first Central Missouri Conference win of the season against the Jays tonight. Smith-Cotton is 0-4 in CMC play, while the Jays own a 2-2 record.

The first time the two teams met this year, Jeff City came away with a 60-56 victory. There were 56 fouls called in that game, and S-C's 6-7 center Skip McGuire sat out much of the game in foul trouble.

"The team is pointing for this one," Porter said. "It should be a real good ballgame."

He compared the Jays to Smith-Cotton on offense. Rick Prosser, their 6-6 center, is the main inside threat, but Porter said they depend on team effort, rather than the big man to win ballgames.

"They're a lot like us. They will play a lot of people, and have a lot of people with four, five or six points."

Then Saturday night, the Blue Springs Wildcats come to town with their sophomore sensation Jon Sundvold.

Other Blue Springs starters are 6-4 center Stormy Floyd, forward Mike Roberts, forward Brian Middleton and guard Joe Rapp.

Floyd and Roberts each are averaging about 11 points per game.

The Wildcats are 10-11 on the year and are tied for second in the Suburban Small Six Conference with a 5-3 mark.

S-C's homecoming queen will be crowned during halftime ceremonies of Saturday night's game.

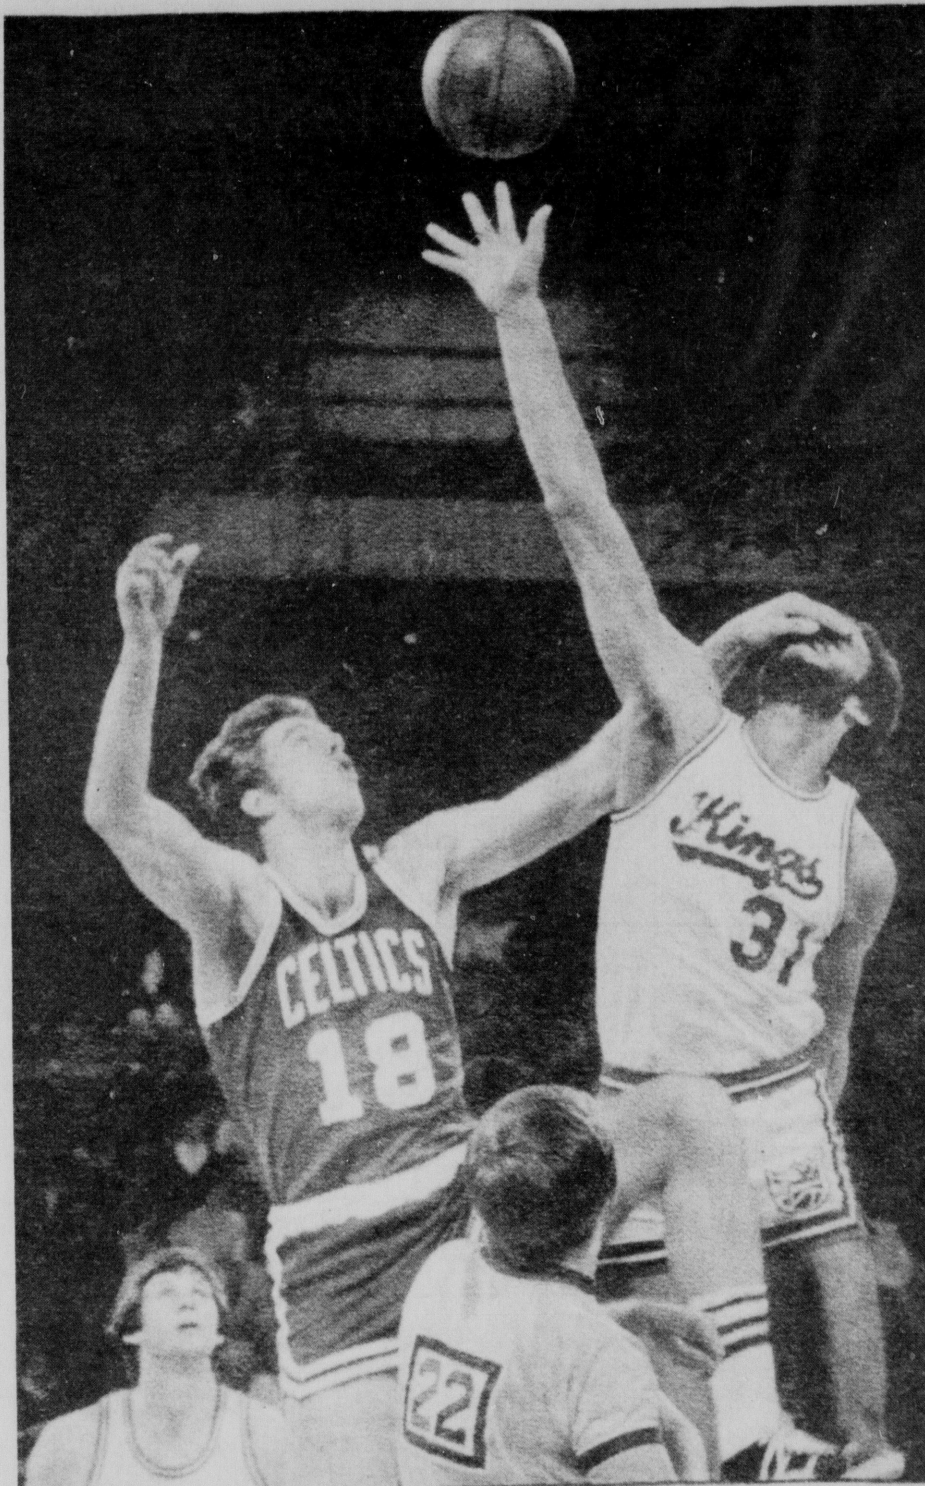

Smith-Cotton's season mark stands at a disappointing 7-13, and a pair of home victories would help to ease the sting of some close ballgames the Tigers have lost this year.

OCEAN CITY, Md. — Cliff Richey lost his temper while losing to fourth-seeded Bob Lutz 6-7, 7-5, 7-6 in the quarterfinals of the $100,000 Ocean City International Tennis Tournament.

Pushing off

While it looks like a sure way to get the tip, Dave Cowens had little success with this unusual tactic against the Kings' Richard Washington on a jump ball Thursday night. The Kings controlled the ball and ended up getting a quick basket. The Celtics beat the Kings 126-125 in overtime.

Overnight success story

Braves beat Cavaliers

By The Associated Press
Joe Mullaney of Buffalo is the National Basketball Association's newest success story.

"That's the way to jump from zero to 500 in a hurry," he mused Thursday night after the Braves made his home coaching debut a winning one, beating the Cleveland Cavaliers 112-103.

It was his second game as Buffalo's chairman of the bench. Wednesday night in Philadelphia, the Braves lost to the 76ers.

In Thursday night's other NBA action, Boston edged

Kansas City 126-125 in overtime, Houston beat San Antonio 113-99 and Milwaukee nipped Golden State 99-97.

Both Mullaney and Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch acknowledged that a hot-and-cold spell early in the fourth period did in the Cavaliers.

They trailed 92-81 when the quarter started, then ran off eight straight points with Campy Russell and Jim Chones hitting two baskets apiece.

Cleveland's next 11 shots were off the mark, however, and the Braves capitalized, widening their lead back to the final margin of nine points.

"They just kept missing and we ended up with the breaks," Mullaney said. Fitch said, "It was feast or famine. We got back in the game, then we managed to miss 11 in a row."

Rookie Adrian Dantley scored 28 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, and Randy Smith had 21 points for the Braves. Russell scored 24 for Cleveland.

Bucks 99, Warriors 97
Brian Winters' 22 points and Swen Nater's tie-breaking jumper at the final buzzer boosted Milwaukee past Golden State and permitted the Bucks to shed the NBA's worst record. They are 19-42 for a .311 percentage to the .309 (17-38) by the idle New York Nets.

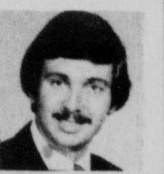

Phil Smith had 28 points for the Warriors, who played without Rick Barry, injured last Sunday in the All-Star Game.

Thompson lets ball, ballgame slip away in closing seconds

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Vern Thompson's slip was showing. And, oh, was his face red because of it.

While 14,129 fans watched at Provo, Utah, Thompson slipped and lost the ball while moving downcourt.

This mistake led to a basket for 17th-ranked Arizona and a 64-62 Western Athletic Conference loss for Brigham Young.

"BYU had the ballgame won and we took it away from them," said Arizona Coach Fred Snowden. "Thompson's slip in the closing seconds gave us a chance because BYU had a man open under the basket."

Petty Daytona favorite again

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The driver with the secret to Daytona International Speedway's 31-degree banks is Richard Petty.

He made that obvious Thursday with a runaway victory in one of a pair of 125-mile qualifying events for Sunday's $414,000 Daytona 500. It made him the favorite to win the world's richest stock car race for the sixth time. No one else has won it more than once.

Petty shrugged off the favorite's role.

"I only ran off from half the people," he said. "They'll all be racing me Sunday, especially Cale Yarborough and Darrell Waltrip."

The name's 'Mr. Massengale'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We call him 'Mr. Massengale,'" said Lanny Wadkins, who just missed a share of the lead in a late-afternoon fog.

"I'm tickled to death to be just one shot back of Mr. Massengale — we call Rik 'Mr. Massengale' when he's playing like he is right now," Wadkins observed after an opening 66 that wasn't quite good enough Thursday in the first round of the $200,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Massengale, a record-setting, runaway winner of last week's Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic, still has his string going. He now has led the last six rounds of competition on the pro golf tour and is

As the ball slipped through Thompson's fingers, BYU Coach Frank Arnold could see another game slipping out of his grasp. It was the 13th loss in a dreary season for him.

"What a shame," he said, "what a shame. Ninety-five per cent of the time, it was a super game for us. When we had a 10-point lead, we made some bad passes. That was the other five per cent."

The victory kept the Wildcats tied with Utah for the WAC lead, each with 8-2 records. Utah kept pace with a 77-72 triumph over Arizona State.

Elsewhere in college basketball, third-ranked UCLA trimmed Oregon State 89-76, Yarborough, in a Chevrolet, won the other qualifying race. Waltrip gave him a close battle until running out of gas with one lap to go and making an unscheduled pit stop.

While Petty's speed of 179.856 miles per hour was the second fastest NASCAR race ever run, Yarborough was averaging 180 before a caution flag slowed the final four laps and trimmed his average to 171.429.

Yarborough set the all-time record of 183.295 here in 1970 before the regulations restricted carburetor intake openings on the superspeedways such as the 2.5-mile Daytona International.

Bobby Allison, whose Matador finished behind Petty's Dodge, said, "Petty obviously was just handling superior to everybody else."

Among the 42 drivers in Sunday's race will be Janet Guthrie, the first woman to qualify for the Daytona 500. The combination of her 18th-place finish in the qualifying race and her 180.603 m.p.h. qualifying speed earned her the 40th spot in the field.

Despite the victories by Yarborough and Petty, Donnie Allison and A.J. Foyt will start their Chevrolets in the front row Sunday. They earned it with the fastest one-lap qualifying speeds last Sunday.

"I'm not doing anything in particular that's different," Massengale said. "My brother (touring pro Don) helped me a little with my putting a couple of weeks ago, but it's mostly just that I've got it all together right now."

Wadkins, fighting his way out of a lengthy slump, was the only one to challenge, and he had to birdie two of his last three holes to close within a single shot. Bob Gilder was another stroke back at 67.

The group at 68 included veteran Don January, Tom Purtzer, Roger Maltbie, Grier Jones, Greg Powers, an alternate who got in the tournament only after Dave Hill had tooth trouble and had to withdraw, and amateur Brian Gaddy, a member of the Rev. Mondale enjoys privacy of woods cabin

FREDRICKTOWN, Mo. (AP) — The Rev. R. Lester Mondale is proud of his half brother, Vice President Walter F. Mondale, but says he plans to shun political activity and treasure all the peace and privacy his little log cabin in the woods can provide.

And that, as anyone who has been there can testify, is considerable.

Mondale, a retired Unitarian Minister, calls himself "the hillbilly" of the six Mondale boys, and his lifestyle supports that claim.

With the help of his wife Rosemarie and neighboring hill people, Mondale cleared the land and built a small but comfortable cabin on a solid granite shelf over the confluence of the St. Francis River and Brewer's Creek.

Because he owns 88 acres of the pine and oak-filled wilderness around him, and because it takes the trained eye of an Indian scout and the nimbleness of a mountain goat to reach the cabin in the dense woods, Mondale says he believes he will be insulated from the hubbub of Washington politics.

"I don't expect there will be much communication back and forth except on a family basis. Fritz (the vice president) has never been here, but he knows the latchstring is always out," said Mondale, a graduate of Hamline University and the Harvard School of Divinity.

The Mondales' father remarried after his first wife died. The first marriage produced three sons, as did the second.

Perched high above the clear water of the streams, the cabin and nearby study are equipped with all the necessities, even though some of them aren't so modern. The Rev. Mondale and his wife rely on a fireplace and a wood stove for heat, and there's always a fire in the huge wood-fired cookstove in the kitchen.

Mondale's Ozark forest crop farm provides the fuel and Mondale provides the labor.

"I'm closer to 73 than I am to 72, and I still don't need pills or medicines," he said. "I rise early, do my writing and other intellectual work in the morning and my physical work in the afternoon. I believe that balance keeps a man healthy.

"My wife and I swim and sunbathe in the pool in the creek in the summer. And up here you don't have to wear clothes because there's no one to see you. It's a great way to live."

Mondale began work on the cabin in the late 1940s while he was still pastor of a Unitarian church in Kansas City. When the church closed for the summer the couple would retire to the hills to work on the cabin and live in the woods. They moved in permanently in 1963.

"I'm still publishing books, and I'm active with the American humanist and ethical movements," Mondale said. "It seems like every book I publish spawns another one."

"In fact, my wife and I have just recently finished one on the Mondale family tree, tracing it back to Norway. You'd be surprised how many people are claiming to be relatives lately. Some of them are, but most of them aren't."

"I did some work in Fritz's two senatorial campaigns in Minnesota," the minister said, "mainly writing speeches while my wife took care of the business end. But presidential-level campaigning is such a highly technical affair we decided to stay out of it. We worked for Jimmy Carter on the local level, of course, since I'm president of the Madison County Democratic Club and county committeeman."

At one point the cabin shook and windows rattled as a loud sonic boom rumbled through the Ozark foothills.

"That's one thing I wish I could do something about," Mondale said with an edge to his voice. "That's an F15 being tested so we can sell them in the Near East. Why don't they spare us and test them over the people who make them or the people who will use them?"

But the sonic booms (and visiting reporters) are about the only outside influences that can disturb the minister, his wife and a large collie named Thor.

Life on Copperhead Cliff (named for the many snakes that still make their homes there) will remain quiet in spite of the Rev. Mondale's famous relative in Washington.

Every time he gets a commission of this kind, he calls himself an editor, & gets drunk — to prove it, perhaps, though I cannot conceive how he hopes to establish such a fact by such an argument. Yours, sadly, Mark Twain.

Twain papers to Vassar

Part of the collection of family papers donated to Vassar College by Mrs. Jean Connor, daughter of Mark Twain's great-niece, includes a letter written in 1863 (top) to the editors of a periodical, "Golden Era," in which Samuel Clemens signs the name "Mark Twain" for the first time. The collection includes some 600 telegrams and letters in the famous author's handwriting, some of which will be on display in May when the Poughkeepsie, N.Y., school dedicates its new Helen D. Lockwood Library. Photo of Twain at right, also part of the collection, was made in Dublin, N.H., on Aug. 29, 1906.

Farmers to protest prices

GOODLAND, Kan. (AP) — Some 3,000 farmers from six states are expected here Saturday to protest low farm prices, sponsors said Thursday.

More than 1,400 turned out for a similar meeting in this western Kansas community last month.

U. S. Sen. Floyd K. Haskell and Gov. Dick Lamm of Colorado, both Democrats, and Lt. Gov. Shelby Smith of Kansas, a Republican, have accepted invitations to the meeting, beginning at 1 p.m. (MST) at Goodland High School. Sponsors said there also is a possibility that state officials from Nebraska will attend.

Farmers from Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Oklahoma and Texas attended the January session. U. S. Sen. Gary Hart and Rep. Frank E. Evans of Colorado, both Democrats, attended that session.

The group, known as "Partners in Action for Agriculture" is protesting the fact that wheat is selling at $2.30 to $2.71 a bushel in Kansas and farmers figure their cost of production is $3.10 to $3.40.

Persistent dry weather in a large part of the area for the past several years has cut into the production of wheat and feed grains and increased costs of raising beef cattle.

Sponsors said they plan to discuss what Congress should do about these and other farm problems and the adoption of resolutions on what should go into farm legislation being considered in Washington.

The "Partners" movement, which has practically no formal organization, grew from the efforts of Mrs. Karen Smith.

THE NEIL DIAMOND SPECIAL

Award-winning composer-performer Neil Diamond headlines his first American television show, 'The Neil Diamond Special,' on NBC-TV, Monday, Feb. 21.

The musical, taped 'live' during his triumphant return engagement at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles, features some of the acclaimed songs he has composed during the past decade, including tunes from his latest hit album, 'Beautiful Noise.' Diamond comments on his life and music. He also involves the audience in one of his numbers.

Diamond won a Grammy Award in 1973 and a Golden Globe Award from the Hollywood Foreign Press Association for 'Jonathan Livingston Seagull,' his first score for a motion picture. During his recording career, he has earned 10 Gold Records for his albums and four Gold Records for single releases.

Michael Jackson (left) and guest star Dom DeLuise are a couple of timid matadors on 'THE JACKSONS,' musical-variety series starring Michael Jackson and seven of his brothers and sisters, Wednesday, Feb. 23 on CBS-TV.

Ben (Donald Harris) enjoys a piece of mail delivered by Dorsey, the U.S. Postal Service's first canine mail carrier, in 'GO WEST, YOUNG MAN,' a comedy adventure to be colorcast on 'The Wonderful World of Disney' Sunday, Feb. 20.

SOUND COUNTRY

by Doug Davis

There's nothing like celebrating an anniversary with a hit! Especially if it's a thirty year anniversary.

Such is the occasion of the song 'Near You' which was written by Kermit Goell and Francis Craig thirty years ago. In fact, Craig's version of the song was the first pop hit record ever to come out of Nashville, Tennessee, and that happened in 1947. Now on the song's 30th anniversary, it's a hit again, but this time it's on Epic Records by George Jones and Tammy Wynette.

The event is even more ironic by the fact that this singing duo seems to be hit-bound with their 'togetherness records,' having been divorced some months ago.

Tammy Wynette and George Jones
Miss Wynette met producer

Billy Sherrill in Nashville several years ago. This meeting resulted in her signing with Epic Records and her first release of 'Apartment Number 9' which was only the first in a long string of hit records. She has remained with the label all these years.

Jones has done otherwise. He's had the hits and still does, but his recording career covers several labels. His first national hit of 'Why Baby Why' was on Starday Records. From there he recorded for Mercury, United Artists and Musicor Records. Later RCA Records bought the rights to all the George Jones Musicor releases, re-mixed them and re-released them in album form, and they were hits. Finally Jones signed with Epic Records and his records are also produced by Billy Sherrill.

GLEN CAMPBELL is back in the beat with his 'Southern Night' slipping up the charts. This is one of the man's best in quite some time.

Campbell has been seen in guest appearances on some of the top television showcases recently and is readying for an extensive tour of Scotland and England, which will begin in late March.

SUNDAY

8:00 PM E.S.T., P.S.T. - 7:00 PM C.S.T. - 9:00 PM M.S.T.: (NBC) BIG EVENT

"The Spell" Lee Grant stars in this eerie World Premiere drama as the concerned mother of an obese, embittered 15-year-old (Susan Myers) with the ability to bring illness - and even death - to those who ridicule her. Co-stars James Olson, Barbara Bostock and Lelia Goldoni.

To Expect To Die

Robert Hardgrove was an ordinary man, a journalist, husband, father, friend - and in his own special way, a teacher. The lesson that Hardgrove taught, how to live with grace, dignity, courage and humor, in the face of a death sentence by cancer, is presented on 'To Expect To Die: A Film About Living' on PBS.

The film was initially suggested by Hardgrove. As his wife Carol said, Hardgrove hoped this record of his ordeal would be "a kind of gift" for others. The film is Hardgrove's statement about the meaning of life, but it is also a statement by his family and friends who with him faced the knowledge of his death.

Hardgrove did not know he had cancer until it had progressed dramatically. When the doctor came out with the X-rays and told him the cause of the nagging pain in his leg, Hardgrove remembered saying: "I'm a dead man."

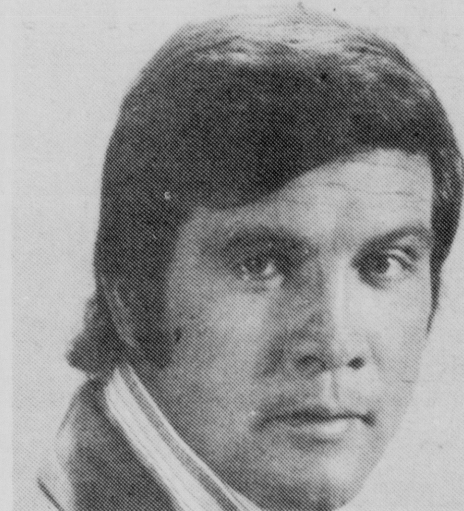

But after coming to terms with his situation, he experienced a remission and had to adjust from the idea of death to the idea of life. "I'm up against this problem of living," he smiled whimsically.

Though the remission proved no more than a false hope, Hardgrove spent his remaining time living life to the fullest. Living to him meant continuing to do those things he had always enjoyed - visits to the seashore, placing bets at the horse races, seeing friends, and spending time with his son Stephen and daughters Ann, Sally and Barbara.

'To Expect To Die: A Film About Living' captures the quiet drama of this tightly-knit family. We see Hardgrove and his wife recalling the early days of their courtship in college; a visit to Hardgrove's office where he is the guest of honor at a party; a family picnic; gatherings of friends. The mood is low-key, but there is an undercurrent of strong emotion behind these seemingly casual scenes and conversations. They are preparing for a death in the family.

Profile

Lee Majors

Born in Wyandotte, Michigan, Lee Majors, 'The Six Million Dollar Man,' grew up in Middleboro, Kentucky, with relatives who adopted him after the death of his parents.

Lee was a star athlete in high school and a member of the Kentucky All-State Football team. Although winning an athletic scholarship to the University of Indiana, an injury during his first year kept him out of competition for three years. He transferred to Eastern Kentucky State College for his senior year and graduated with teaching credentials. He received an offer from the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals in his final year at school, but turned it down. Having developed an interest in acting, he decided to go to Hollywood.

Lee's first job was as a playground supervisor for the Los Angeles Park Department, which supported him while he studied acting with Estelle Hermon and later at the MGM Studio Acting School. Then came his continuing role in 'The Big Valley,' followed by 'The Man From Shiloh.'

Lee's first motion picture was 'Will Penny,' in which he co-starred with Charlton Heston. He next appeared as a lawyer in 'The Liberation of L.B. Jones.' His television credits include two ABC 'Movie of the Week' features, 'The Ballad of Andy Crocker' and 'Weekend of Terror.'

Lee continues an active interest in sports, playing touch football with a group of ex-college and pro players. He is a low handicap golfer and is in constant demand to play in pro-celebrity matches. He enjoys fishing and horseback riding.

Lee married actress Farrah Fawcett (she has now added Majors to her professional name) July 28, 1973, the anniversary of their first date, and they make their home in Bel Air.
